

19 – 21 November 2025 - National Wine Centre of Australia, Adelaide, South Australia

The decentralised and on-site wastewater industry is a critical enabler of improved water, sanitation, hygiene and environmental outcomes across the globe.

Recognising its importance, Environmental Health Australia (South Australia) Inc is leading a conference and site tour program from 19 to 21 November 2025 specifically focussing on the decentralised and on-site wastewater sector. This will be the first time a conference of this nature will be held in Australia for at least the last decade.

The conference presents an opportunity for industry professionals to expand their skills and knowledge, network with their peers and explore opportunities for future collaboration.

About the Conference:

Australian On-Site Wastewater 25 provides a unique occasion for the Australian on-site wastewater industry to come together with those from the sector around the world and share new advances and leading international practice. It also provides an unparalleled avenue for professionals to connect and drive the future of the industry.

On the 19th and 20th of November 2025, three parallel presentation sessions and workshops will take place, covering a range of topics in the areas of:

- New innovations and traditional technologies in wastewater treatment, dispersal and re-use
- System design, construction, operations and maintenance
- Public and environmental health impacts
- Building the workforce of the future
- Industry promotion and community engagement.

The first time a conference of this nature will be held in Australia for at least a decade.

About the Conference:

Australian On-Site Wastewater 25 provides a unique occasion for the Australian on-site wastewater industry to come together with those from the sector around the world and share new advances and leading international practice. It also provides an unparalleled avenue for professionals to connect and drive the future of the industry.

On the 19th and 20th of November 2025, three parallel presentation sessions and workshops will take place, covering a range of topics in the areas of:

- New innovations and traditional technologies in wastewater treatment, dispersal and re-use
- System design, construction, operations and maintenance
- Public and environmental health impacts
- Building the workforce of the future
- Industry promotion and community engagement.

An Expressions of Interest process will provide an opportunity for those in the sector to put forward topic suggestions, whilst keynote presenters will be unveiled in early 2025.

A Gala Dinner will be held on the evening of 19 November, providing a fantastic avenue to network with conference attendees.

Site tours will also be available for attendees on 21 November, covering a number of on ground projects and solutions in a range of fields.

About the Host City:

The venue for the conference is the National Wine Centre of Australia, located in the heart of Adelaide, South Australia.

Surrounded by rolling hills and world-renowned wine regions, Adelaide is a city of elegant 19th century sandstone architecture and bohemian laneways, with wide boulevards, parks, gardens and open spaces. Known as the Festival City, Adelaide is also home to major festivals like Womadelaide, Adelaide Festival and Adelaide Fringe.

Visitors to the conference will have the opportunity to experience the culture of the city, with many attractions within walking distance of the conference venue. There is also potential to book visits to majestic locations such as Kangaroo Island, the Barossa Wine Region and the Flinders Ranges, making this a must do combined professional and tourism event.

You can find out more about Adelaide and South Australia at - <https://southaustralia.com/>

Attendance Details:

Registrations for attendance at the conference will open in early 2025.

A range of attendance options will be available, including for each day of the conference program and site tours. Early bird and student discounts will also be available, so stay tuned for further announcements.

The anticipated price for a general two day pass will be approximately AU$1,000, with site tours and the Gala Dinner being an additional cost.

Discounted accommodation options will also be available in close proximity to the conference venue.

Sponsorship Opportunities:

There will be a range of sponsorship opportunities for the conference, including for overall naming rights, the Gala Dinner, presentations sessions, workshops and site tours. Further details on sponsorship packages will be released towards the end of 2024.

An exhibition space will also be provided for businesses to showcase their offerings to the market.

What better way to promote your solutions to leading industry professionals from around the globe!

Subscribe to Regular Updates:

We will be releasing regular updates on the conference, including the Expression of Interest process for conference presentations and workshops, sponsorship arrangements and attendance registration.

To subscribe to receive these updates, please email sa@eh.org.au.

For more information, scan this code to visit the conference website.